Motion, A Jenta Story

by Lengdung Tungchamma

8 x 5.25 • Paperback • 206 pages

$16.99 • 978-1-961568-71-6

July 2025

A typical Jenta story is one of limited vision. The stereotype is that a person born in Jenta—a slum area of Jos, Nigeria—is stuck in poverty and drifts naturally to vice, crime, and gang activity, mainly because they lack vision for anything better. The saying has always been, “Nothing good can come from Jenta.”

But one young man and several friends started a grassroots public library aiming to #ChangeTheNarrative of their community, and they have succeeded. Now, through books, programs, and community involvement, young people in Jenta can access a higher vision for their lives.

Lengdung Tungchamma tells his story of being born in Jenta and growing up amid poverty, terrible government dysfunction, and terrifying religious violence. He tells how, despite himself, God intervened in ways that set Lengdung in motion, away from stagnation in a survival mentality, and toward vitality by blessing others through the Jenta Reads Community Library.

Excerpt:

I was born in Jenta. My family had just moved into a new house they built with their own hands in early 1997. In May of that year, I arrived in this world. Mother wanted to name me “Lurit,” meaning “new home.” However, Father rejected it. He declared that the name would be “Lengdung,” which means “thinks deeply” in Ngas. When broken down into two syllables, “Leng” and “dung,” it would mean “spoiled soup.” Life had two paths for me. Which would it be? “Lengdung” or “Leng dung?” I am still on the journey.

A TRUE STORY OF SPEAKING UP,
BURNING DOWN, AND THE UNBREAKABLE
BOND OF FRIENDSHIP

by Sarah Carter and Corinne Shark

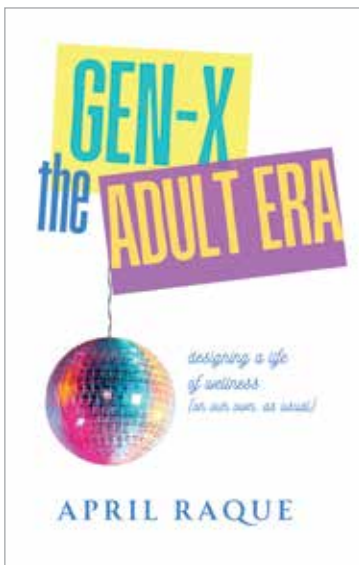

How do you reclaim your life after it's been burned to the ground by systemic corruption? Long-time friends Sarah Carter and Corinne Shark are forced to find out after joining brave survivors and speaking out about their own experiences of religious corruption and sexual misconduct within two organizations. Using a storytelling arc, Sarah and Corinne weave together the cost of courage, the hope of healing, and the slow journey back to themselves after losing nearly everything in the fallout.

The Skies Are Full of Us is a beacon flickering bright through the dark of night, an invitation to grab a blanket and curl up by the fire with the authors and bear witness to the collective liberation that happens when we tell the truth about our lives.

Gen-X The Adult Era

DESIGNING A LIFE OF WELLNESS
(ON OUR OWN, AS USUAL)

by April Raque

April Raque nearly killed herself with the stress of corporate America's high-speed conveyor belt. When her own health bucked her off it mid-way through life, she landed with a thud. And then she did as any good Gen X-er would: she figured it out. Using her formal education in health, wellness, and design alongside the trademark independence of her generation, April crafted her own mid-life chapter into a place of joy. Now you can become the boss of your midlife, too. Ollie, ollie, oxen free! The water hose is flowing and the street lights are nowhere near turning on. Climb up in the clubhouse and let's talk about mid-life bodies, managing the challenges and changes unique to this phase, and designing it all into a life of wellness.

In the Blink of an Eye

HOW BRIEFLY GOING BLIND OPENED MY EYES

by Barbara Melvin

Barbara Melvin has a secret to her success: her five Ps. And never were they more important than the day she woke up in her Naples, Florida home, blind. In the blink of an eye, life changed. Her carefree days as a business banking leader became filled with doctor visits amid long bouts of pain and healing. She thought back to the days of growing up in rural Virginia, moving to Michigan after high school, marrying the love of her life, and accepting an unexpected offer from a stranger to work in banking. She'd made the most of that offer. Everything was bright and sunshiny in her life until, literally, it went dark. This is the story of one woman's path up the career ladder, toppling into darkness, and then climbing into the light again.

BLESSINGS FOR A BLUE CHRISTMAS
(AN ADVENT DEVOTIONAL)

by Sherah-Leigh Gerber

6 x 8 • Paperback
130 pages • $17.99
978-1-5138-1647-0 • October 2025

How can we hope when not all is merry and bright?

We often think of the Christmas season as a time of good cheer, festive parties, and thoughtful gifts. But what happens when the reality of life stands in stark contrast to these expectations? Cancer diagnoses, divorce proceedings, and natural disasters do not care about calendar time. Smaller hardships create their own stress—travel woes, custody arrangements, money struggles, and political differences can strain our closest relationships. How do we live into the spirit of Christmas when things feel bleak?

From the coauthor of Comfort and Joy comes a gentle companion for a season that may not always feel like the most wonderful time of the year. Spiritual director Sherah-Leigh Gerber offers readers ways of noticing how God shows up in daily life amid our heartache, grief, and loss. With thoughtful reflections and compassionate blessings drawn from the familiar biblical texts of Advent, Unhappy Holidays invites readers to recover a sense of hope as we prepare to celebrate the incarnation. Includes resources for small groups and use in worship settings as well as at home.

About the Author: Sherah-Leigh Gerber is a spiritual director and writer. A graduate of Eastern Mennonite Seminary and an ordained minister in Mennonite Church USA, Gerber has served as a pastor in addition to working in other nonprofit leadership roles. Gerber lives with her husband and two teenage children on a fifth-generation farm in northeastern Ohio. She is the coauthor of Comfort and Joy: Readings and Practices for Advent.

The Bible According to Christian Nationalists

EXPLOITING SCRIPTURE FOR POLITICAL POWER

by Brian Kaylor

The Bible According to Christian Nationalists explores how certain political figures twist scripture to serve own agendas, from misapplying passages to promoting violence. This book unpacks the techniques behind the misuse of biblical texts like numerology, selective key words, and rewriting scripture, showing how these misinterpretations distort the teachings of Jesus.

Thriving Church

WHAT WE CAN LEARN FROM FAITHFUL CONGREGATIONS

by Erin Cash & Kory Wilcoxson

Why do some churches thrive while others struggle to survive? Thriving Church: What We Can Learn from Faithful Congregations highlights 10 key traits of thriving congregations based on a five-year study of over 20 churches. They discovered that thriving churches know their mission, know one another and who they serve, are scripturally grounded, generous, innovative, forward thinkers, collaborative, and embrace resurrection and community. Packed with practical action steps and relatable stories, this book equips pastors and laity alike to apply them to their own congregations.

Government: Servant or Master?

EXPOSING AMERICA'S RUNAWAY
BUREAUCRACY AND ABUSE OF ITS CITIZENS

by Sandra J. Adams

The United States was borne from a desire to be free; only to become an unfeeling, faceless bureaucracy. This book shows us what we can do about it.

Many good people work in federal positions; some for many years. They don't realize what is happening and are just pawns in the system. The problem lies with elected and unelected people who no longer respect and obey the constitutional rule of law in our Founding Documents. They are systematically changing our government to be our MASTER instead of our SERVANT!

Encounter God's love at the borders of our bodies

During Lent, we often reflect on our limits—from dust we are, and to dust we will return. We remember that we will never be able to do everything we want to do, even and especially when what we want to do is love our neighbor well. In this daily devotional, Disability rights activist Tatum Tricarico helps us turn the tables on Lent. Rather than a time of feeling condemned or guilty beyond help, Lent is when we can take a breath and finally say what we have been trying to hide all year: I am human. I can't do it all. And still, I am beloved by God.

Disabled people have always known that our bodies and actions don't fit into boxes marked "perfect" or "endless." Every day, they encounter ableist, discriminatory practices that spell out the limits of bodies, minds, and human connection. In far more than forty days, Disabled people have learned to be honest about their bodies, to love them and name them as good, not despite finitude, but because of it.

Blessed Is the Body invites readers to expand their understanding of God, themselves, and community with reflections and practices for considering Disability justice, history, and culture alongside stories from the Bible about Disabled individuals like Moses and the woman with a flow of blood. Reflecting on Lent through the lens of Disability lets us experience the power, connection, and joy that comes with being honest about our finite bodies and making space for all of who we are—the beauty and the dust.

by Troy D. Watson

Jesus doesn't shy away from our complexities or contradictions. Nor should we.

We often sense a gap between who we are and who we could be, should be, or feel called to be. "I don't understand myself," the apostle Paul writes in the New Testament. "Why do I struggle to do the things I want to do and keep doing the things I don't want to do?" That might be one of the most relatable passages in the Bible!

As Christians, we're inclined to seek the Scriptures for guidance, but even Jesus' teachings can be confusing. If Jesus says we are to die to ourselves and deny ourselves, how do we do that while loving and being true to ourselves? How do we accept our need for growth and grace without feeling like hypocrites? How can we become more Christlike while also becoming more like ourselves?

In Get a Hold of Yourself, pastor Troy Watson digs into some of Jesus' puzzling teachings to unearth how we can learn to face contradictions rather than avoid them. Jesus' perplexing stories and paradoxical sayings are meant to shake people from their social defaults and awaken them to a new reality. When we embrace ourselves as both sinners and saints, hurting and healed, cowardly and courageous, we are empowered to live more authentically in our complicated world.

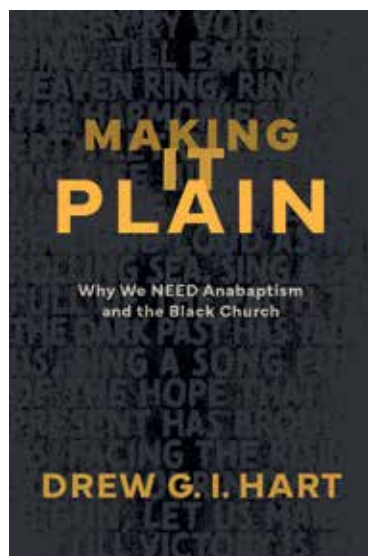

All That Is Made

THE COMFORT OF CONTEMPLATIVE PRAYER

by Keren Dibbens-Wyatt

Julian of Norwich lived in a world wrought by pandemic, persecution, war, and seismic change. As she prayed for reassurance from God 600 years ago, she had a vision of a hand gently holding a tiny, round thing no bigger than a hazelnut. This miniscule thing, Julian wrote, represents all that is made. We and all creation are so small in comparison to God—yet God counts us precious. Dibbens-Wyatt found parallels to her own life as a person housebound by chronic illness, and discovered a great source of comfort and wisdom for Christian faith. Though we feel small and helpless in the face of global issues, Julian's hazelnut vision reminds us that we are cradled in the love of God.

Making it Plain

WHY WE NEED ANABAPTISM
AND THE BLACK CHURCH

by Drew G. I. Hart

Making It Plain offers a novel pathway for Christians to live out a decolonial and anti-racist faith in the aftermath of Christendom: the convergence of the radical discipleship of the Anabaptist tradition and the prophetic witness of the Black church. In the witness of Black and Anabaptist Christian communities across time, we find a faith that takes the life and teachings of Jesus seriously. Despite oppression or persecution at the hands of mainstream Christianity, these traditions salvaged a liberating and peacemaking vision of Jesus right under the nose of empire and white supremacy.

J. D. GRABER AND THE VISION
FOR GLOBAL ANABAPTISM

by R. Bruce Yoder

Born in Iowa in the 20th century, Joseph Graber was a visionary who helped shape Mennonite identity and engagement with the world. His work in India reinforced the commitment to missionary witness and convicted him of the need for new attitudes and approaches for a postcolonial era—where the idea that congregations could be empowered to engage in local missions. Sowing Seeds digs into Graber's promotion of missions that shed colonial thinking and practice in favor of shared responsibility and planted seeds for churches rooted in diverse ethnic traditions and cultures.

Honest to Goodness

DISCOVERING THE TRUTH & BEAUTY OF A LOVING GOD

by Furman Buchanan

This devotional book invites readers to spend time each day examining God's own words in the Old and New Testaments so that we might better understand who we are, who God is, what God expects from us, and—likewise—what we can expect from God. Through the words of Jesus, we discover the one-ness of the Father's love, revealed in the beloved Son through the power of God's Holy Spirit.

The common denominator in all these words and deeds is honesty. And listening to God's honesty leads us to experience God's goodness. In other words, as we discover more of the truth and beauty of a loving God, we can move from honest to goodness.

God wants us to think, speak, and act in response—the more honest and good, the better. In a world filled with deception, greed, and violence, people of faith are called to stand up and speak out for honesty and goodness.

This is a thoughtful companion for a journey through Lent or for anytime of the year.

The Homestead Cook

EVERYDAY FAVORITES TO CELEBRATE RICH, SIMPLE LIVING

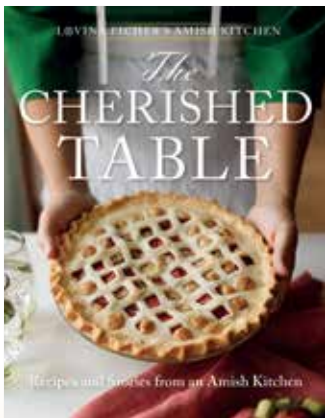

by Jody Bahler

The Homestead Cook celebrates tradition, simplicity, and relationships through classic recipes from a Christian family farmstead. These recipes—from appetizers and beverages to main dishes and desserts—are rich in flavor and use common ingredients, offering simple twists on beloved favorites. Many of the dishes have been enjoyed around the author's family dinner table for generations and are ready to be shared at yours. Author Jody Bahler also incorporates favorite dishes from her family business, The Homestead, a home-style bakery, deli, and gift shop in Indiana.

The Dream

THE EXTRAORDINARY REVELATION OF WHO WE ARE AND WHERE WE ARE

by David Icke

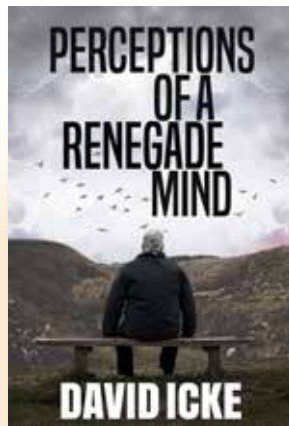

David Icke has become world-famous for his work exposing today's fast-unfolding global dystopia more than three decades before it became reality. They laughed then. But he didn't stop there. He went further. Icke knew that the world of the 'seen' was only a reflection of something far, far, deeper that ultimately originates with a non-human force in another reality. They laughed then, too, even many who call themselves 'alternative' thinkers. But he didn't stop there. He went further. Icke began to say after the turn of the millennium that human reality is a virtual reality simulation designed to entrap perception. They laughed again, and yet mainstream scientists have since concluded that we do live in a simulation. But he didn't stop there. He went further. The Dream sees David Icke go deeper in the rabbit hole than ever before to describe fantastic revelations about the nature of our reality, who we are, where we are, and the real origin of human control. They'll laugh again. But he won't stop there.
